Backcountry Reservation System

2007 Backcountry Reservations-Climbing and Mountaineering

Directions: Please list the campsites where you would like to camp or bivy for your climb below. If you are unsure of the best place to camp for your climb, you can either list what you are going to climb and we will assign you the closest campsite available, or you may call us at (307) 739-3309 for additional information. Listing any proposed climbing for each day is optional, but can be helpful to us in getting you the right campsite.

We limit the number of people in camping and bivy sites, but not the number of people on the climb itself; therefore, a climb could be crowded even if you are successful in securing a nearby campsite. The group size limit for all climbing campsites is six people, but keep in mind that your chances of securing a campsite are much greater if your group is smaller than six. Also, keep in mind you may only have two nights per camping site, then you must move on to another site. Fill out a new form for each climbing trip you desire.

Attention: This form is for climbing and mountaineering trips only. If you are planning to use the sites on Jackson Lake click here. If you plan to camp on Leigh Lake or for general backpacking trips, click here. For group camping click here.

Step 2. Trip Flexibility

We will always give you your first choice if it is available; however, in the event your first and second choices are full, will you accept:

Moving your dates backward or forward by a few days? Yes No

If yes, how many days previous of your first choice?

How many days after your first choice?

Running your trip in the opposite direction? Yes No

A permit with less people than you requested? Yes No

If yes, what is the minimum number?

Taking substitute campsites at the discretion of the permits staff?

Yes No

Step 3. Confirm Reservation Request

We require a $25 non-refundable reservation fee for each separate trip into the backcountry. A charge will be assessed only if your reservation is successful.
